

A Free Workshop brought to you by the Pike Soil and Water Conservation District

Aquatic Furbearers

Come learn the ecology and management of those critters that inhabit our streams, marshes, and riparian areas

About our speaker:

Our special guest speaker for the evening will be Emily Archibald. Emily is a Private Lands Wildlife Biologist with the Ohio Division of Wildlife. She is based out of the Division's District 5 office in Xenia, and covers Pike County as well as the south-central portion of Ohio.

The Division's Private Lands Management program is a free resource to the public that provides guidance to people who want to improve wildlife habitat on their property. Private Lands Biologists provide on-site consultations, habitat management plans, and technical assistance for State and Federal programs, as well as answer general wildlife related questions.

Emily will share with us this evening the good and the sometimes not-so-good aspects of those creatures that find their homes in an aquatic environment.

Join us for a great FREE evening!

Thursday, May 25th, 2017 5:30pm-7:00pm

Pike County Career Technology Center (Pike JVS)

175 Beaver Creek Road—Piketon, Ohio

Light Refreshments Will Be Served
The Workshop is Free, but Reservations are Required at:

Pike Soil and Water Conservation District
(740) 947-5353

Questions? Please call or email
Kevin at kevin.yost@oh.nacdnet.net