

Pollinator Recovery Initiative

Get your group involved in helping to place native habitats for pollinators throughout Scioto County. Scioto SWCD is offering packs of a custom blend of native wildflower and grass seeds to interested groups and homeowners . Plant a patch of native wildflowers in your yard, on your property, or get your group together and plant a large patch as a community service project. Educational presentations are available also to teach the importance of pollinators , the challenges they face, and the importance of native wildflowers . Contact us today to get involved!
